The European Wine Table

Jacqueline Chambliss

After 10 years of being in the Technology Industry I decided to leave and pursue my interest in wine. That pursuit has led me to the Master of Wine designation I am currently seeking through the Wine & Spirit Education Trust (WSET) in England. I am 3rd Level wine education certified through WSET thus far, and am excited to teach about wine for all who want to learn.

I've always been intrigued, also, with the easy going European lifestyle. Food, wine, family and friends seems to be a priority in their lives.

Through wine education, family and friends, food and wine can be a priority in your lives too!

Welcome,

Jacqueline Chambliss

The European Wine Table offers wine country excursions without you ever leaving your home.

Transform your home and take a trip to Italy with your friends enjoying the food and listening to Italian music while learning about the wines and traditions of Italy's vast wine region.

Or take a trip to New Zealand and sip on Sauvignon Blanc while you learn about how it's made and why it taste so refreshingly good.

Experience a new trend in wine education.

Take an indoor vacation learning about wine with your luncheon group, bridal shower, hotel guests or dinner party. It's a trip to wine country that will always be remembered.

Wine Education Series offers:

- In-house/In-home wine education for small or large groups we offer our Lectures on Wine Series

What you learn:

- What is wine? Why wine?
- Why wine with everyday meals
- The selected wine region—what wine grape varieties grow there, the area climate and how it affects the final wines style
- How to taste wine—how to look for balance, complexity, and quality in a wine
- Reading the wine label
- Food pairings with everyday wine
